What happened in 2002

- Pike/Pine-Boren Park Project - In summer 2002, the City received over 500 responses to a park user survey of residents in the Pike/Pine neighborhood and tracked the number of park visitors, their activities, the time of their visits, demographics, etc. over a 24-hour period. Parks and Recreation used both kinds of information in working with the community to finalize plans for the park. Implementation of the improvements is funded by the Pro Parks Levy and Convention Center impact mitigation funds. Construction of the park is scheduled to begin in Fall 2003. For details, visit <http://www.cityofseattle.net/parks/proparks/projects/borenpikepinepark.htm>
- Pedestrian Safety Improvements - Pike/Pine Urban Neighborhood Coalition (P/PUNC) worked with Seattle Transportation (SDOT) to get pedestrian crossings evaluated. SDOT added crosswalks at intersections that met safety criteria. One signalized crossing (Pike and Harvard) will be constructed in 2003.
- Pike/Pine RPZ organizing - Building on a 2001 Capitol Hill Parking Management Study recommendation, P/PUNC requested a Residential Parking Zone (RPZ). The RPZ restricts week-day parking to two hours except for cars belonging to neighborhood residents with a permit.
- Arts Orbit - Local artist Dominic Zambito worked with P/PUNC in an effort to support the business district by highlighting art. The Arts Orbit Program promotes getting people out in the neighborhood every first Saturday 12:00-5:00PM to see new art, and enjoy live music and snacks, hosted by area businesses. What's Upcoming In 2003

- Installation of pedestrian lighting on Pike and Pine through Seattle City Lights Pedestrian Lights for Safety program.
- Implementation of other pedestrian safety improvements, including possible "road diet" for Pike Street (travel lane reduction with added left-turn lane).
- Continued working with SDOT on a Residential Parking Zone implementation, including garnering signatures of residents.
- Working with low-income housing developer and Walgreens Drugs on a mixed-use development at Broadway and Pine.
